Four Seasons Give Concert Tuesday Night

The Four Seasons, one of the most sought after groups on the campus circuit, will perform at the Fieldhouse Tuesday night at 8:00.

SINCE THE quartet's first million - seller in '62 -- "Sherry" -- it has had some 40 more precious metal singles. The New Jersey natives have sold more than 50 million discs.

Unlike most of the guitar cult and the pastel costumes, the Seasons have worked the more sophisticated saloons and niteries. They have worked at the Coconut Grove in L.A., New York's Empire Room, and the Landmark in Las Vegas.

SOME OF the biggest platters by them have been, "Big Girls Don't Cry," "Walk Like A Man," "Dawn," "Let's Hang On," "I've Got You Under My Skin," "Working My Way Back To You," "Tell It To The Rain," and "Will You Love Me Tomorrow" and many others.

Tickets are $3 in advance, $4 at the door. The Student Center Information Desk is selling tickets.

Autos Must Be Registered Director Says

Fewer than half of the expected 3500 to 3600 automobiles on campus have been registered, according to Ed White Director of the Department of Safety and Security.

"DURING the first two days of registration, we registered only 1500 vehicles," Mr. White stated. "The deadline for registration is Friday."

Failure to register vehicles after the deadline results in a $3 fine plus the registration fee.

One concern of the safety director's was the failure of many students to comply with parking zone regulations. "In driving around the parking lots," Mr. White noted, "I have noticed that students aren't paying attention to the parking signs, especially around the library and university center lots." Signs are displayed separating staff, commuters, and non-commuters lots.

White cautioned students not to park in the lot behind the ROTC Building. The lot is for staff only.

Convenient parking for Atrium residents is on the drawing boards, according to White. "We plan, maybe, to clear from the area at the corner of Moody and Lee Street, the old Church of Christ Activities Building and make a parking lot there, which is also next to the Home Management Building."

Three new patrolmen have joined the Department of Safety and Security. Carroll R. Blanton of South Fulton was formerly a member of a Florida police department, and Homer J. Chandler of Martin and John A. Harrison, formerly of Memphis are the officers added.

THE REAL THING — Jazz lovers will get a treat when the Kid Thomas Preservation Hall Jazz Band comes to the fieldhouse Friday at 8 p.m. Tickets are on sale at the University Center information desk for $1.50.

Pop Festivals Revisited

(Editor's Note: A staff writer who must remain anonymous this time attended all six of the major music festivals this summer. The following is his reflection on some aspects of the pop trail...)

Five pop festivals and jazz at Newport blasted the sounds of the times -- maybe as much Platonically aphrodisiac as amplified -- to an audience of over one million people including me at all of them this summer.

CONTRARY TO too much mass belief, the crowds weren't all young and hippie. The Establishment numbered ten percent in total attendance. Although the news media coverage was excellent, with the possible exception of Newsweek, the press failed to note that of the 300 or so arrested for drug violations, over half of them were over 30-years-old, the age that defines the Establishment population.

Ironically, and even more socially disturbing, almost all the drug users were on hard stuff, opium derivatives, poppy people, the mainliners who have to use the syringe to get to their veins. Television news managed to show the lack of violence, but the communal gregariousness of the "Now Generation" which came on some screens was enough to titillate the tastes of viewers.

Time Magazine, which gives more nudity with the news than any other medium, did focus on some of the topless girls who found some of the days too hot. It gave special attention to some of the nudes in Atlanta where the temperature kept ambulances shuttling those shorted out by the sun to infirmaries. Some nudies were arrested at all the festivals, but not many. The police, in multitudes at all six musical fests, were very commendable in letting the music lovers, a few literally, do "their own thing."

In late June some friends and I left in a '58 Ford for the Newport Jazz Festival. This gathering drew a more sedate, older crowd. The music was good, but nothing to compare with what came next.

I hitchhiked to Atlantic City. The festival there featured such groups as "Blood, Sweat, and Tears," "Creedence Clearwater Revival," "The Chicago Transit Authority," and many others.

Next stop was Atlanta. A

Music Major To Compete With Pianists

Rae Shannon, junior education major and student of Allison Nelson, artist-in-residence, will be one of 25 pianists competing in the Third Van Cliburn International Quadrennial Piano Competition being held in Fort Worth, Texas, September 29 - October 12.

THE two-week long competition is divided into three hearings. Twelve semi-finalists are selected from the first hearing and six are chosen from the second hearing.

THE first prize winner will receive $10,000 in cash, and will perform in concert in Carnegie Hall.

Frosh Account For One-Third Of Enrollment

An additional 445 students over last year brought UTM's total enrollment to the anticipated 4200 mark, a 15% overall increase.

APPROXIMATELY 1600 of this enrollment are freshmen, forming 37% of the entire student body.

The largest number of enrolling freshmen from one county numbers 296 students from Shelby County. From middle Tennessee, especially Davidson County, there was 100% increase over last year.

DEAN OF Admissions Henry C. Allison stated that registration was only "down in returning students, at least 100 below the projected number."

Candidates for spring and summer graduation number 536, which is a great increase over previous years. The number of transfer students and graduate students has also risen this fall.

"REGISTRATION was satisfactory, despite this increase in enrollment, but it got off to a slow start," according to Dean Allison. This delay was due to worker registration which put the registration process about an hour behind schedule.

Dean Allison also said he was considering the possibility of moving the whole process of registration to the Humanities Building, possibly Spring quarter, thus putting everything under one roof.

Class Elections Set

Elections for Class officers and Homecoming Queen will be held on Oct. 14 and 16.

The deadline for organizations nominees is Tuesday. The only qualification is to be nominated by an official organization on campus.

FASHION WINNERS — Scarves, chains, short skirts and wide leg pants catch the fashion eye again this year on campus. The coeds showing their fashion know-how are Vicki Brown, Linda Watson, Joy Robbins, Pat Brown, and Cathy Adams.

Editorials

Campus Parking Poses Increasing Problems

Approximately 4200 students arrived on campus in 3500 automobiles. This is a great increase and causes some problems.

NEW parking areas were completed this summer. Yet more space is still badly needed to adequately accommodate the influx of traffic. Inconvenience is the lightest word to express it.

The campus police are doing their job when they issue tickets for parking in restricted zones. But often in desperation the frustrated student and faculty member parks in an illegal zone as a last resort.

PLANS are on the drawing board to clear the area at the corner of Moody and Lee Street for a parking lot where the old Church of Christ Activities Building is located.

True, there is ample parking if new residence hall parking lots are included in the count. The only real parking pressures are centered around the academic buildings where space is inadequate.

PERHAPS it would be noteworthy to add that many campuses end such problems by forbidding freshmen to bring cars.

Since UTM pays for its parking lots out of appropriated funds, one must realize money is of the essence. At other UT campuses a student fee pays for the student parking areas.

IF the university continues to grow at the rapid pace it has in the last two years, some action must be taken.

What is the best solution?

Another repercussion relating to the rise in the count of autos is the blind spot at the corner of Hannings and Mt. Pella Road. This intersection is located at the Main entrance to McCord and Ellington Halls. A red light would be appropriate there.

Public Should Be Allowed To Censor Entertainment

The freedom to read is essential to our democracy. It is under attack. Private groups and public authorities in various parts of the country are working to remove books from sale, to censor textbooks, to label "controversial" books, to distribute lists of "objectionable" books or authors, and to purge libraries.

THESE actions apparently rise from a view that our national tradition of free expression is no longer valid; that censorship and suppression are needed to avoid the subversion of politics and the corruption of morals.

We, as citizens devoted to the use of books and as librarians and publishers responsible for disseminating them, wish to assert the public interest in the preservation of the freedom to read.

MOST attempts at suppression rest on a denial of the fundamental premise of democracy: That the ordinary citizen, by exercising his critical judgment, will accept the good and the bad. The censors, public and private, assume that they should determine what is good and what is bad for their fellow-citizens.

Critic's Corner

by Kathy Fleet

According to the 1969 Student Handbook, "One of the basic assumptions of the University is that each student has and will exercise the capability for making judgments about his behavior." However basic this faith in each student's judgment is, the handbook lays down a few laws, 19 to be exact.

IN order to "provide guidelines" which will help the student in his "after-college existence," the University provides disciplinary action for the student who finds himself among one of the 19 categories.

The conscientious student need have no fear that 19 conduct rules are not enough to regulate the evil which lurks in the hearts of many students. Thanks to ambiguous wording and the frequent use of "but," "except" and "however" clauses, several rules can be interpreted to make almost anything illegal.

AS ONE student remarked, the rule concerning the gathering of groups of students on campus could make it illegal to shake hands with a friend if this seems to "interfere with the orderly functioning of the University." Whatever, that is.

It is also interesting to compare the rule concerning narcotics, drugs, and alcoholic beverages. The "use, possession, distribution or being under the influence of narcotics or drugs" is prohibited while only the "possession or use of alcoholic beverages" is illegal. It seems that one may stagger around the campus all the likes, but never may he float.

SG Dateline

Student Government would like to encourage each student to participate in the many and varied activities we sponsor during the school year.

THIS Friday at 8:00 p.m. the Preservation Hall Jazz Band will perform in concert. They have a tremendous act, and everyone is invited to come and enjoy the show. Students may buy their tickets for $1.00 at the information desk.

The "Four Seasons" will be at the Fieldhouse October 7 at 8:00 p.m. This concert promises to be a very enjoyable one.

THE first House of Representatives meeting will be Monday, October 6.

We encourage each organization to send a representative. This is the recognized channel of communication to the administration, and students are urged to air their grievances and opinions about the university.

SOCIAL dates for fall quarter will be drawn Wednesday night at 7:30 p.m. in the conference rooms of the University Center.

On Thursday the Screening Committee of the UT Trustees will be on campus. This committee is made up of eight trustees who are seeking suggestions and recommendations relative to a successor for the retiring UT President, Dr. Andy Holt.

WE hope every student will be thinking about characteristics and qualifications needed for this job and voice their opinions by contacting the SG Senators.

Thank you,
Billy Cunningham
SG President

Americans should be trusted to recognize propaganda, and to reject obscenity. They do not need the help of censors to assist them in this task. They are not prepared to sacrifice their heritage of a free press in order to be "protected" against what others think may be bad for them. Americans still favor free enterprise in ideas and expression.

BOOKS are not alone in being subjected to efforts at suppression. These efforts are related to a larger pattern of pressures being brought against education, the press, films, radio and television. The problem is not only one of actual censorship. The shadow of fear cast by these pressures leads, we suspect, to an even larger voluntary curtailment of expression by those who seek to avoid controversy.

Suppression is never more dangerous than in such a time of social tension. Freedom has given the United States the elasticity to endure strain. Freedom keeps open the path of novel and creative solutions, and enables change to come by choice. Every silencing of a heresy, every enforcement of an orthodoxy, diminishes the toughness and resilience of our society and leaves it the less able to deal with stress.

NOW as always in our history, books are among our greatest instruments of freedom. They are almost the only means for making generally available ideas or manners of expression that can initially command only a small audience. They are the natural medium for the new idea and the untold voice from which come the original contributions to social growth. They are essential to the extended discussion which serious thought requires, and to the accumulation of knowledge and ideas into organized collections.

Free communication is essential to the preservation of a free society and a creative culture. These pressures towards conformity present the danger of limiting the range and variety of inquiry and expression on which our democracy and our culture depend. Every American community must jealously guard the freedom to read.

PUBLISHERS and librarians have a profound responsibility to give validity to that freedom to read by making it possible for the readers to choose freely from a variety of offerings.

The freedom to read is guaranteed by the Constitution. Those with faith in free men will stand firm on these constitutional guarantees of essential rights and will exercise the responsibilities that accompany these rights.

Parade Of Opinion

Dear Editor:

I would like to commend the student government on bringing the Town Criers to our campus for the first concert of the '69-70 school year. This group was really great! The only regrets I have about the concert was that the Fieldhouse was not filled to capacity.

WITH groups like this one, all students should take advantage and attend these concerts. It is a shame that someone could even think that a new group to our great campus could be poor.

I hope that every other concert this year can equal the Town Crier. They showed such versatility when they played "The Impossible Dream" along with many other songs.

TRULY I am proud of our student government and its leaders.

David Young

Dear Editors:

In helping our athletic teams to win, no factor is more important than the Volunteer Spirit. Even though we did not win our contest with McNeese, the spirit demonstrated by the students who gathered at the goalpost prior to the game helped to give the football team a mental lift.

ON behalf of the football team, I wish to express our appreciation for this support and I hope that in the future additional people will participate in this form of support.

The second week in August I set out for what I thought was another obscure festival, White Plains. The Woodstock billing came from the beautiful wood bracketing that upstate New York area. Over a half million people concentrated in a six acre lot.

Roads surrounding the lyrical locale were reminiscent of military convoys having problems in old war movies.

I hitchhiked out of Knoxville where I caught a ride with a Miami crew destined for the festival.

Dallas and New Orleans were the last two. I bussed to Dallas and bivouacked with friends.

The great disaster was at Woodstock. Trash, trash, trash. Susan Spotless would have thrown up, and humanity should be sick of it. The "pigsduct, of the rock congregations. A week later, I raised my thumb for New Orleans, where fortunately for my sagging spine I had friends with good mattresses.

I found the experience productive. People from all walks, paved and dirt, of life, all races, and all manner of interests could live together in a community atmosphere of peace, good-will and neighborly helpfulness.

Grass was the most plentiful drug at each of the festivals. Pills were also in great demand. Anything from black widows, pep pills, to Darvon, a relaxant, could be obtained. There was very little use of hard drugs though.

There were some morally questionable incidents. But the homosexuals remained apart from the others at all of the festivals. Except for a few scattered scenes of sexual uninhibitedness and lewdness, most relations were discreet.

Unfortunately, litter and trash was everywhere. At Newport most of the debris consisted of liquor bottles and beer cans. At Atlanta, New Orleans, Dallas, and Atlantic City trash ranged from programs to unused papers to roll joints.

Cowboys Give Vols 1-2

The Vols failed to contain McNeese State's ground attack and bowed to the Cowboys 17-15 in Saturday night's game.

QUARTERBACK Glenn Lowe completed nine of 12 passes for 79 yards and one touchdown. Leading the ground attack was freshman back Nate Moore who carried 24 times for 164 yards.

The Vols scored in the first period on a 36 yard pass to split end Barry Reeves. Duff Maki plunged from the one yard line in the second period. Both conversion attempts failed.

McNEESE narrowed the 12-0 deficit when Ricky Miller scored from the six and Marvin LaGrappe booted the PAT.

The Vols came back into the game with Robert Hassel's 27 yard field goal in the third quarter, but the offense could not score. LaGrappe booted the game winning 17-yard field goal
